What are your rights, as a Data Subject?

As per article 11 of the PDP Law, data subjects have the rights to:

- learn whether or not their personal data are processed;
- request for relevant information, if their personal data have been processed;

- learn the purposes for the processing of their personal data and whether or not those data are used in compliance with the purposes;
- know the third parties in the Country or abroad, to whom their personal data are transferred;
- request for rectification in case their personal data have been processed incompletely or inaccurately; and request that the operations carried out in this context be notified to the third parties to whom their personal data are transferred;
- request for erasure or destruction of their personal data in case the reasons necessitating their processing cease to exist, despite they have been processed in compliance with the provisions of the PDP Law and other related laws; and request that the operations carried out in this context be notified to the third parties to whom their personal data are transferred;
- object to occurrence of any results that are to their detriment through analysis of their processed data exclusively by automated systems;
- request for compensation of the damages in case they incur damages due to the unlawfully processing of their personal data.

In case you transmit to us your requests related to your above rights through the methods specified in the Nurol Real Estate Investment Trust Data Subject Application Form available at www.nurolgyo.com.tr, your applications shall be evaluated and concluded as soon as possible or in no later than thirty (30) days. It is a principle that no fees will be claimed in respect of the requests; however, the Company reserves its right to claim a fee or fees on the basis of the fee tariff determined by the PDP Committee.

The Data Subject makes the commitment that the Data Subject's information subject to this Enlightenment Text is complete, accurate and up-to-date and that the Data Subject shall immediately update the information in case a change occurs in this information. In case up-to-date information is not provided by the Data Subject, the Company shall have no responsibility and liability in this regard.

The Data Subject acknowledges that the Data Subject might not fully make use of the functionality of the Site in case the Data Subject makes a request which would result in the Company's inability to use any of the Data Subject's personal data, and declares that all kinds of responsibilities and liabilities to arise in this context shall remain with the Data Subject.
